

April 23rd, 2024 – Little Chalfont

There were 15 of us for our April walk which started near The Pomeroy Pub/Restaurant beyond Little Chalfont.

The walk took us down a lane, across fields (one containing some horses but fortunately they were very docile), through woodland to the edge of Old Amersham where we crossed the River Misbourne.

We then climbed up the other side of the Misbourne valley across a field of winter wheat, through some more woods, past a dairy farm and then back across the Misbourne river and up over the golf course to our starting point. It was a little muddy in places but for the most part it was easy walking with no stiles.

We followed the walk, which was under 6 miles, with a good lunch at The Pomeroy.
