

July 2023 – The Full Moon pub in Little Kingshill

We were a smaller group than usual, it being July and maybe summer activities competed with the joys of a country walk. Sadly, Bob Whittingham who together with Chris Hodges had planned the walk, wasn't able to join us as he had come down with Covid but fortunately Chris had the plan.

We started off from The Full Moon pub in Little Kingshill near Little Missenden, a lovely pub, highly recommended – very friendly staff and delicious food. Bob had billed the walk as six and a quarter miles but we were pretty sure it was nearer seven: our legs certainly confirmed this!

The walk took us in a big circle from Little Kingshill, through farms, wooded copses and open countryside, skirting around Great Kingshill before returning to the pub. Thank you Bob for planning and thank you Chris for leading.
